

Cookie Settings

Last updated: June 2026

What cookies are

Cookies are small text files stored on your device when you visit a website. We use cookies and similar technologies to make the site work, to understand how it is used, and to improve the service.

Categories of cookies we use

- Necessary cookies: required for the website and service to function, such as login sessions and security. These cannot be disabled.
- Analytics cookies: help us understand how visitors use the site, such as which pages are viewed and how users navigate. Used only with your consent.
- Marketing cookies: used to measure the effectiveness of our marketing and to show relevant content. Used only with your consent.

Managing your preferences

You can accept or reject non-essential cookies via the cookie banner when you first visit the site, and change your choices at any time through the “Cookie Settings” link in the website footer. You can also delete or block cookies through your browser settings; note that blocking necessary cookies may prevent parts of the service from working.

Third-party cookies

Some cookies are set by third-party services we use, such as analytics providers. These providers process data according to their own privacy policies. A current list of the cookies in use and their retention periods is available in the cookie banner.

Contact

Questions about cookies or privacy: hello@oarni.com